The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of salapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly reditted in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and saverer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

Belshazzar, with his wives and concubines,

Within the palace drinking costly wines; The Persians enter the unguarded gates, The king is slain, the realm capitulates.
The Spartans, once a bold and hardy race, Who feared no risk, or enemy to face, Strong drink caused them to degenerate, And brought their country to a servile state King Alexander, skilled in art of war, Was called the great Emathian Conqueror, Held undisputed sway over all the world, In ev'ry clime his banner was unfurled. 'Twas he on the Gaugamelan plain O'erthrew Darius and his countless train; Yet he, his bright career but just begun, Was overcome by wine at Babylon.
And Noah, in his tent o'ercome with wine,
Should for all ages be a warning sign:
Awakened from his drunken lethargy

Awakened from his drunken lethargy
Pronounced on Ham the curse of slavery.
The race, now free from that unhappy plight,
Some still are slaves to drink; the appetite
Is in the sons of Shem and Japhet found,
And all alike are by its fetters bound.

AS TO SENATOR STONE.

From the Potosi Independent.
A PLAIN STATEMENT.

THE Independent has no grievance against the Post-Dispatch. We read it like we do any other paper without considering its character or its management. We have no or its management. We have no or its management. We have no personal interest in the men it praises or in those it denounces. The Independent looks upon its maneuvers in the arena of politics from the view point of one of the audience at a puppet show or the disinterested spectator at a horse race who does not particularly care for horses. Without a trace of malice or ill will against the Post-Dispatch or any one connected with it, in fairness to our patrons we are compelled to place in cold type language that is ordinariter careful examination we have reached the conclusion that where certain men and measures are concerned the Post-Dispatch lies—lies without the excuse of violent anger or bitter hatred. Lies deliberately and with malice prepense as a part of its general policy, which is probably dictated from New York City. The Post-Dispatch is a branch of the New York World in the sense that its policies are formulated by the same men, and the New York World is as much the organ of predatory wealth as the New York Sun. The plutocracy believe that a lie perseveringly kept before the people will after a while, in their eyes, asafter a while, in their eyes, assume the guise of truth. They have ample justification for this where they monopolize the avenues by which the people are reached. The lies it puts forth about Mr. Bryan and Sonator Stone are made to order. The activities of its falsehood factory have recently been restricted in the case of Mr. Bryan because the people are so well informed in regard to him that they availed nothing, so in the last month almost its entire out-put has been devoted to Senator Stone. Here is an instance: In its editorial of Apri 125th entitled, "Folk's Recview, especially where they mo-nopolize the avenues by which the people are reached.
